

Save What You Can

(P Gould)

You know you've hit the bottom you know you're at your worst and all the dreams you've ever had like bubbles slowly burst You've tried hard not to face it but it's harder to ignore god only knows how much you'd give to make it like before

Don't be sad don't be sorry you've always been to me a special kind of friend just be glad you don't have to worry

I know you'll find the strength somewhere to make it in the end

Save what you can for tomorrow Save what you can for another day you might have to beg, steal or borrow but you've got to find another way

You've had your share of problems you know I've seen you bleed right now you want my sympathy but that's not what you need Just keep it all together the hurt will fade away this kind of pain you're feeling comes to pass but not to stay

Don't get mad don't get even sometimes you've got to bite your tongue and walk away don't feel bad you don't need a reason 'cause the strong give up and move on, while the weak give up and stay

Save what you can for tomorrow
Save what you can for another day
you might have to beg, steal or borrow

Spend the night alone you call me up feeling out of place you're lost in space call a cab then you're right outside my door Next to me you're beside yourself need a miracle like no-one else today now you know you can't take it like before
